Hand Badly Crushed.

D. R. Anthony, the blacksmith at the Argonaut mine, met with a very painful accident on Monday last. He was operating a machine drill sharpener. While the machine was at a standstill he was reaching across it to fix something, at the same time his left hand was in front of that part of the machine that delivered the blow. In some way his glove came in contact with the part that turns on the power, and in an instant his hand received the force of the blow. The member was crushed badly, the palm being the part mostly affected. No bones were broken. He came to town and had the injury treated by Dr. Endicott. The accident will disable him from work for some weeks. Mr Anthony has the sympathy of all in this latest misfortune, as he has had a series of accidents in recent years. Some time ago while visiting in Sacramento, he was struck by a street car, and severely shaken up. He had not fully recovered from this mishap, when this latest disablement overtook him.

Articles of Incorporation.

Amended articles of incorporation of the Pacific Coast Casualty Company were filed with the county clerk last Monday. A resolution is attached showing that the company is authorized to transact business in California and elsewhere to guarantee certain kinds of insurance and the power to guarantee the fidelity of persons holding public or private positions of trust and to bonds and undertakings in judicial proceedings, and such other business as usually belongs to a corporation of this character. The principal place of business is San Francisco; time of existence, 50 years; number of trustees eleven. For the first year as follows: Geo. A. Butchelder of Menlo Park, Edward L. Brayton of Oakland, and A. Borel, J. C. Coleman, F. P. Deering, E. J. deSabra, jr., E. F. Green, I. W. Hellman, jr., Wm M. Pierson, Henry Rosenfeld, A. A. Son, all of San Francisco. Capital stock is $200,000 divided into 2000 shares of the par value of $100 each. The names of fifty persons to the stock are given, each actually subscribing to 40 shares.

Homestead Contest.

The case of R. O. McKean vs G. C. Russell was heard in the Sacramento land office a few days ago. Russell filed on a tract of 160 acres in sections 4 and 5 township 7 range 13. The contestant alleged that he had never resided upon the homestead or improved the land in any manner, although the entry was made several years ago. The homesteader had abandoned the tract, and removed beyond the county. There was no appearance on the part of Russell at the hearing and the officials of the land office decided the matter in contestant's favor. After approval by the department at Washington, the contestant will have the prior right to file upon the tract in question.

Relics of Early Days

The Mokelumne Hill correspondent of the Calaveras Citizen says:

A number of young boys of this place have been running a tunnel into a bank in the rear of Boen's old stone store on Center street for the past few days. It was a small affair, just large enough for the youngsters to sit upright and work. When in about twenty feet they unearthed a number of old clay pipes, such as were in use some forty odd years ago. One or two of the clay pipes were what was known as the old French clay pipe, having a slanting bowl and a stem about ten inches long. When in a distance of thirty feet, the bottom of the tunnel being about ten feet from the top of the ground they came across some human bones, consisting in part of a couple of ribs, part of a thigh and some small bones that undoubtedly came from the foot. Just how the bones came to be here none of the old settlers seem to know. However, in the early fifties, a short distance from where the bones were found, stood a stone building known in those days as the "John Shear saloon and dance hall." It was in this saloon that the celebrated bandit of those days, Joaquin Murietta, jumped upon a table while the saloon and dance hall was full of people, proclaimed who he was and defied the officers of the law to take him, there being constable and two deputy sheriffs in the place at the time. A "man for breakfast" was a common thing in those days and it may be that the bones unearthed are those of some poor unfortunate who lost his life at the faro table and then in a fit of despondency took his own life, or perhaps they are all that is left to tell of some terrible murder that was committed over some trivial dispute at the card table. On the north side of the Protestant cemetery in this place is what is known as "Murderers Row," and which contained twenty one graves of persons who had met violent deaths in the early history of the place. But the elements have leveled the little mounds of earth and the wooden head-marks have long since decayed till at the present it remains only for the old settler to point out the spot where the victims of the bullet and dirk were consigned to mother earth. The bones found by the youngsters were placed back in the tunnel and carefully covered up and the mouth of the tunnel for a short distance in was caved.

The Tennis Court.

The proposed tennis court for Jackson lovers of this pastime is materializing. A club has been organized with Dr. Wilson as president. There are some dozen members, who will share the initial expense. Three lots on Peek hill have been rented for a period of five years. The work of grading the ground is in progress, and a wire fence eight feet high will be built around the grounds. Suitable suits will be had for the participants.

San Francisco Dailies Arrive shortly after Noon.

J. W. Allardyce, the agent of the San Francisco Call, was in Jackson the greater part of the week. He has been working on a plan to have the daily Call delivered to subscribers through the local agent shortly after twelve each day instead of after five o'clock on the arrival of the passenger stage. He has pressed the scheme to a success, and on Tuesday last, for the first time, he had copies of the morning paper of that date in Jackson before 1 o'clock. The papers leave San Francisco by the early train, and reach Galt in time to connect with the freight train from that point to lone, and from lone they are brought by the freight train over the Amador Central to Martell, and thence by stage or livery team to Jackson, reaching here fully four hours ahead of the usual time heretofore. The Call is entitled to the credit of having blazed the way for this very important accommodation. The other city dailies will of course follow suit as soon as they become aware of the situation. The general mail will not reach here any earlier, but why this should continue so we do not know. The transportation of the United States mails is supposed to be on the fastest schedule time possible. Still here is a case where the regular mail service is beaten four hours in a distance of 150 miles. Why cannot the regular mail matter be scheduled over the same route?

MINING NOTES

South Eureka—A dozen or more experts, representing a big mining syndicate have been making an exhaustive examination of this property for several days, carefully sampling the ore from every part of the mine. The object is to lay before the capitalists who are thinking of buying the mine a correct statement of the condition of the property. It is said the Guggenheims are the real parties concerned in the proposed deal, and the price set upon the property is given as two million dollars, this is mere rumor, lacking verification. It is stated that whether the deal is consummated or not the milling capacity will be increased to sixty stamps. The additional 20 stamps are already under a good headway, and will be pushed to completion as rapidly as possible.

Argonaut—Last week what seems to be a new ore body was struck in the 3300 level of this mine. It was encountered north of the shaft, at a point 400 feet from the place where it was expected to strike the main ledge as indicated by the ore shoot in the 3100 level. The ore at the lower level shows a width of 23 feet, and is of good milling quality. It has not been followed, as the crosscut is being pushed ahead toward the point where the main ledge is believed to be. In the level above the vein is 25 feet wide.

Bunker Hill—The regular monthly dividend of 5 cents per share was paid on the 15th, aggregating $10,000. The drift at the 1950 level is being extended as fast as possible, and it is expected to reach the ledge the latter part of April.

Keystone—The superintendent of the Keystone mine at Amador has been on a visit to San Francisco the past week. Everything at this mine is reported as very favorable.

Central Eureka—Central Eureka mine at Sutter Creek still continues sinking their shaft. This mine expects to find the ledge which is paying the South Eureka so well on the 27st level.

Miscellaneous—A report has reached us that Alex Adams, who has been prospecting a gravel claim in the vicinity of Sandy Bar on the Mokelumne river, opposite Aqueduct, has struck pay gravel at a point hitherto unsuspected. It is believed to be an ancient river bed, from the boulders and water-worn rocks encountered, that escaped the miners of pioneer days. It is fully 50 feet above the water line of the river, and the discovery is regarded as important. How extensive the channel is has not been determined. According to information it is of good paying quality, and water for hydraulicing can be got there without great expense.

New Plumbing Shop.

The new building under construction at 88 Main street, will be occupied the early part of next week by Mr John Sobretto as a plumbing, tinning and sheet iron works. The new proprietor says he will carry a full line of stock, and is looking forward to a bright future.

Drummers in Runaway.

Two drummers giving the names of Arthur J. Ownes and Robert W. Smith, representing a San Francisco picture frame company and traveling through this section, secured a team from Podesto and Taylor's livery stable and drove to Pine Grove on a business venture yesterday. The outcome of the trip however proved less successful than was expected.

The agents assert that about 1 p. m. while Ownes was in the act of putting the bride on the horse, which had been removed in order that the animal could eat, a dog ran at the beast frightening it and causing it to run away.

In dashing to one side the horse caused Smith, who had been seated in the buggy to be thrown heavily to the ground, giving him painful injuries to his shoulders and hips. The animal dashed several hundred yards and then turned into the sidewalk at the Pine Grove hotel, telescoping the buggy, and tearing out one of the porch roof pillars. The horse escaped injury although he fell several times in trying to clear himself from the wreckage.

Ownes and Smith when seen last night said they decided to pay the liverymen $40 as damages, although they declared the affair to be an unavoidable accident.

How Good News Spreads.

They effect a cure every time. They never fail to tone the stomach, regulate the kidneys and bowels, stimulate the liver, invigorate the nerves and purify the blood. They work wonders for weak, run-down men and women, restoring strength, vigor and health that's a daily joy. Try them. Only 50c. Satisfaction is positively guaranteed by Spagnoli's Drug Store."

Marriage Licenses.

A marriage license was issued Wednesday to Chester C O'Neill, aged 22 and Francis L Seiffert, aged 16, both native of Amador City and of California. The consent of her guardian was given.

Suit Against the Sunset Contract Company.

Last Friday C. H. McKenney, as receiver of the Sutter Creek State Bank filed a complaint against the Sunset Contract and Supply Company and others, in the superior court of this county. The defendant corporation is the name of the company that figured in the construction of the lone and Eastern railroad from lone to Martell. The complaint sets forth that on July 30, 1907 at Niles, the defendant gave a promissory note for $6000, payable 90 days after date, with interest at the rate of seven per cent per annum. As collateral security there was transferred to the Sutter Creek bank 20,000 shares of the California Pressed Brick Company. The note was signed by Wilford Dennis as president and A. F. Cook as secretary of the brick company. The Sutter Bank has held possession of said note and collateral ever since the 30th of July, 1907, and no part of the note or the interest thereon has been paid. On the 2d of September, 1909, plaintiff paid an assessment on this pressed brick stock amounting to $1000, pursuant to an order of the superior court, and a like sum on the 6th of January this year.

For a second cause of action the defendant company executed another promissory note at Sutter Creek, on December 3, 1907, for $1784.37, with interest at 8 per cent per annum, which note is also held by the Sutter Creek bank. No part of the principal or interest on this note has been paid.

Plaintiff prays judgment against defendants for the principal and interest due on said notes, also for the sums paid as assessments on said stock, and for an order of sale for said stock, and that the plaintiff be allowed to become the purchaser at such sale, and for such other relief as may be deemed just and equitable.

Hunting Licenses.

The number of hunting licenses taken out in Amador county is growing smaller every year. The first year over 1100 licenses were sold at $1 each. The second year the number dropped to about 1000. This year there has been a still greater decline from this source of revenue, the total being estimated at about 850. The reason for this decrease is believed to be indifference about taking out a license, and not to an actual falling off in the number of hunters. There is a decided objection to the entire revenue being dumped into the state treasury to keep up the fish and game commission, which is anything but a popular body with the general public. It is no doubt true that Amador county is not alone in the decline of hunting licenses. The rest of the state will no doubt show a corresponding ratio of decrease.

Acknowledgment blanks for notaries, specially printed for Amador county, may be had at the Ledger office. Price 50c per packet of 50.

THIS PAPER is kept on file at E. C. DARE'S Advertising Agency, 770 Market street San Francisco, California, where contracts for advertising can be made of it.

NOT IN LOVE WITH BONDING.

The craze for running into debt, the advocates of which are endeavoring to popularize by christening the "good roads movement," is not meeting with that encouragement which its devotees anticipated. In Colusa county recently a proposition to bond the county for a large sum to build roads was defeated by a big majority, notwithstanding that every paper in the county was urging the adoption of the scheme. In Napa county likewise the proposition to bond for good roads was defeated by a two to one vote. These adverse results are not to be understood that the people are not in favor of good roads, or that they undervalue the importance of good roads. They simply mean that they are not disposed to pile up an indebtedness upon themselves and posterity to take the chances of road improvements under the existing system of mismanagement. The state road commissioners are free to admit that the methods of working the county roads are ruinously extravagant. The road funds are used to pay political debts, or to discharge other obligations of a private character. Of course the argument is used that the arterial roadways should be under state control exclusively; that state officials would better safeguard the public welfare than officials dependent upon local politics for their position. It may be seriously doubted, however, whether any better results would follow under state supervision. We have had experience in this county of so-called engineers and state officials attempting to construct a model highway. And the effort proved as much of a fizzle as under local management. The experiment only served to show that there is just as much reason to expect mismanagement and extravagance on the part of state politicians as with the local brand.

QUEER REFORMERS.

The principles of the Roosevelt-Republican league are all right. No true republican can offer any exception to its avowed objects. It is a pity, however, that those at the head—the self-constituted leaders of this schism—are not more scrupulous in carrying their professed principles into practice. The so-called movement in the interest of pure politics seems to us to be little more than an effort to supplant one set of leaders—whom they please to call the machine men—by another set, who would likely be more dictatorial and arbitrary than the present organization has ever dared to be. The Lincoln-Roosevelters profess to be great sticklers for the direct primary law, and the free and untrammelled expression of the party voters' choice in the selection of party candidates at such primaries. And yet this faction is the only organization that has violated the spirit of the primary law by selecting beforehand a set of republican candidates to be recommended for support. This ticket is the choice of a mere handful of soreheaded politicians, many of them disgruntled office hunters, who are suffering keenly from that disease known as disappointed ambition. They are sore because their party brethren have failed to gauge their worth according to their own inflated standard. This coterie seek to swing republicans by trotting out candidates of their own ilk—men committed to be guided by their notions of party management. We believe republicans generally are too intelligent to be misled by this flimsy and false cry of reform, from men who judging from their record, are moving backward instead of forward. We desire to caution republicans in this county against being trapped by leaguers. We do not think they are likely to develop much strength here; certainly they will not if they are correctly sized up. If you happen to run across a politician working actively in this behalf, just do a little investigating as to the motives impelling him onward, and you will be apt to discover that the devotion to reform which is trotted to the front as the incentive is in reality nothing more than an insatiate appetite for the spoils of office. He is working for self, and not for the dear party.

The only danger of success of the leaguers' ticket at the primaries lies in a division of the votes of the regular republicans between Curry and Anderson, allowing Johnson to capture the nomination for governor by a minority vote.

GLOBE SIGHTS

Every lawyer tries to be more or less like Abe Lincoln.

Most of this hatred of the rich is carried on at a long distance.

How the democrats admire a democrat who has been elected to office!

We admire the man who wins a medal, particularly if he leaves it at home.

Ever occur to you that the busy bee gets the longest vacation on record?

A boy seldom follows the career mapped out for him by the school teacher.

Fear of getting caught makes a few bachelors, and a number of other good citizens.

Men are all selfish; They would rather be late to dinner than to have to wait for it.

Do a little more work, and spend less time looking for opportunity, and you'll succeed.

Which, by the way, constitutes the best families in a town: Meat three times a day, or false hair?

When a man has a large family of children, his opinion of his neighbors is never without prejudice.

As times goes, that word "innocent," when applied to children, has a greater time limit in its application.

One definition for the word hypocrisy: To say you had a good time when you were really in misery.

When father is a widower and dies, leaving a fortune, the silver lining to the cloud is that he hadn't married again.

The men at least point with pride to the fact that no magazine devoted to their fashion has a million circulation.

We don't care much about Walt Whitman, and don't know much about him, except that he was no friend of the barbers.

Economy, unlike charity, doesn't usually begin at home; in fact, economy doesn't begin anywhere as often as it should.

There is this much in proof that men are more sincere than women: They never "take on" at a funeral unless they mean it.

In every home, the rules of the house should be printed in large type, and posted in a conspicuous place, for the benefit of visitors.

If a man is right minded, he couldn't have what is known as a "good time" at the funeral of the worst enemy he has on earth.

The modern novel is shorter than the novels of an earlier period, but there are so many more of them that daughter manages to keep busy.

What has become of the old-fashioned boy who became so busy eating when at the table that he didn't ask for things, but pointed at them?

Whenever a man blows his nose in his big generous handkerchief, he is more convinced than ever that a woman carries her handkerchief for show.

There are a number of methods of attaining success: A number of stage dancers seems to have arrived by not investing all their meagre earnings in clothes.

What has become of the old fashioned audience of women and children that went forward at the close of an entertainment in which a child appeared, to kiss the child?

A bachelor is now known as an old Tom. (The term originated with turkey breeders.) After a gobbler is no more use except to fatten and eat, he is known as an old Tom.

Is there any home in the world in which daughter gets up and gets breakfast for father, and mother doesn't appear at the table, unless mother is bed-fast, or buried.

Boys gossip a little, but their gossip is usually not vicious. To-day we heard a boy say to his friend, another boy: "You know that new dog they have as Smithson's? Well, it's a she."

Among the failures in the world are many persons of intelligence. Such failures always lack system and industry, and often they lack principle to such an extent that they are tricky.

"That," said a man looking up from his work, with an unhappy home, unpaid bills and extravagant women folks in his mental vision, "is my idea of a joy ride." A hearse heading a procession was going by.

A man must accept what his employer pays him, pay out what others charge him, put on the underwear his wife puts out for him, eat what she spreads before him, and sleep in the bed the way she makes it. Still there is occasionally talk of men being free and independent.

You may think the man who has money has friends, but it isn't true unless he has more than money. A parasite is not a friend; neither is toadying to wealth or greatness an indication of friendship. Simple kindness and politeness make more friends than money; at least the kind of friends who do not bear a price mark.

ELECTRIC POWER

Generated by the natural fall of a great river, offers the safest investment of the present day. Crops and mines may fail, factories and banks may close their doors, but the Sacramento River will never cease to supply its power; and electricity, for operating railroads, for hoisting works, mills and smelters at mines, for running all forms of machinery at factories and on farms and for the lighting of towns and cities, is a staple article in ever-increasing demand.

Situated at the head of the great Sacramento Valley, with electric roads projected in every direction and being rapidly built, only 275 miles from San Francisco and Oakland, and 185 miles from Sacramento, to which points electric power is now transmitted from Shasta County, the market is practically unlimited.

Send your address at once and let us tell you how you can make an investment now which will increase in value ten times within a few years and yield a good income for all time.

Eat What

You want of the food you need
Kodol will digest it.

You need a sufficient amount of good wholesome food and more than this you need to fully digest it.

Else you can't gain strength, nor can you strengthen your stomach if it is weak.

You must eat in order to live and maintain strength.

You must not diet, because the body requires that you eat a sufficient amount of food regularly.

But this food must be digested, and it must be digested thoroughly.

When the stomach can't do it, you must take something that will help the stomach.

The proper way to do is to eat what you want, and let Kodol digest the food.

Nothing else can do this. When the stomach is weak it needs help; you must help it by giving it rest, and Kodol will do that.

THE DRESSING TABLE.

How to Take Care of the Hands and the Fingernails.

The first requisite is always the little basin of warm soapy water in which to soak the finger tips to softness. An orange wood stick, flat at one end and pointed at the other, is the second necessity, and a pair of curved manicure scissors, a bit of cold cream or vaseline, tint and polish, with a chambray buffer, a few strips of emery board and a bit of absorbent cotton, are also valuable.

The cotton is more efficacious than the orange wood stick alone for cleansing under the nails, especially if they have been roughened by cleansing with a sharp instrument. With a careful cutting the emery board will suffice for filing, and the cold cream is rubbed in the last thing to counteract the drying effect of the soaking.

One should begin by trimming the nails to an even roundness. It is no longer considered the best taste to have pointed nails, and indeed it is just as well, for the former style left no means of protecting the corners of the finger tips. The roughest faults in the cutting are then filed away and the orange wood stick, moistened, used to shove down the cuticle till the half moons show and to remove particles of skin that have clung to the nails. Though hangnails must of course be cut with scissors, it is far better to avoid their use, as cutting the cuticle thickens it. Then comes the cleansing, the final smoothing with the emery stick, the touching with nail rouge, the polishing with nail buffer and powder and the rubbing in of cold cream, and you are ready to do the other hand. When both are manicured they should be carefully rinsed and dried and a final polish administered with the buffer. This treatment is necessary once or twice a week and the dry polishing every time you wash your hands.

One of the best preparations for whitening and refining the hands contains raw eggs. To prepare it a raw yolk is beaten with a silver fork, and a tablespoonful of oil of sweet almonds is worked in a drop at a time. A teaspoonful of tincture of benzoin is then added in the same way. A dessertspoonful of rose water is also put in, drop by drop, to finish the paste. This mixture is applied at night, and a pair of kid gloves is drawn on. The gloves should be white and larger than are worn for dress. It is always well to make a few holes in the palms of the gloves worn at night in order to let in air. The paste when not in use must be kept in a tightly covered jar in a cold place.

How to Make a Shirt Case.

There is a useful Christmas present for a young lady to make for a young man. Take a yard and a half of either white duck or linen drilling twenty-four or twenty-seven inches wide. Have a layer of sheet wadding, sprinkled with sachet powder. Over it use a pretty silk for lining. Sometimes a pretty quilted lining is used. Fold three times and make a case. Turn over one corner and embroider scallops on edge of same and the word "Shirts" embroidered in washable gold thread. Flowers or a pretty conventional design may be embroidered. Scatter them promiscuously.

How to Stuff Squabs With Corn.

Cut the kernels off from six ears of green corn, scraping out all the milk, but taking care to get in none of the cob. Put into a saucepan two tablespoonfuls of butter, a half cupful of hot water, salt and pepper to season. Cook a few minutes, add one beaten egg, and cook until thickened. Stuff the birds, lay in a baking pan with a thin slice of bacon, blanketing each fat little breast, put a cupful of hot water in the pan and roast, basting frequently. This makes a delectable dish. Canned corn can be used instead of corn on the ear when the latter is not in season.

How to Make Pumpkin Pie.

To a quart of stewed pumpkin, drained and well mashed, add one cupful of sugar, two eggs, well beaten; two tablespoonfuls of cornstarch, mixed with the sugar; half a teaspoonful each of cinnamon and allspice, quarter of a teaspoonful of cloves and of nutmeg. Mix all together. Heat until boiling hot a pint of milk, pour it over the pumpkin and let stand until cool, stirring well. Line four pie tins with good, rich crust; fill with the mixture, but do not cover with an upper crust. Bake in a moderately hot oven.

How to Prepare Boned Turkey.
Boil the fowl in as little water as possible until the bones can easily be separated from the meat. Remove all of the skin, slice and mix together the light and dark parts, prepare a dressing as for roast turkey, put upon the fire to melt the butter, then mold into a round ball and put the meat all around it. Boil down the liquid in which the turkey or chicken was boiled, then pour it on the meat. Wrap it tightly in a cloth, then press it with a heavy weight for a few hours. When served it is cut into thin slices.

How to Remove Grease Spots.
Obstinate grease spots can be removed by placing them in benzine, placing them on a double pad of blotting paper and after laying another pad of the same over the top pressing with a moderately hot iron.

How to Clean Steel Jewelry.

Cut steel buckles or jewelry which has become rusty may be cleaned by applying sweet oil freely with a feather. Allow it to stand forty-eight hours and then rub with a piece of soft flannel.

Willis Hoss and Henry Chapman have finished trapping in the mountains for the season. They left the trapping grounds early this week, and Hoss left for Sacramento Tuesday to dispose of the skins. The season was not a very profitable one, and the stock of valuable fur skins was not materially increased from the figures reported in these columns about a month ago.

Mrs. R. W. Ketcham died in the Stockton asylum on the 7th instant. She was for many years a resident of Amador county, living first in the neighborhood of Plymouth and afterwards moving first with her husband to Jackson, where the couple lived for about twenty years. About three years ago they removed to Woodbridge, in San Joaquin county. Mr. Ketcham died about a year ago, and thereafter Mrs. Ketcham's mind began to fail, so that several months back she was committed to the insane asylum at Stockton. She was a remarkably bright and active woman, and of noble and christian character.

We were shown this week a mammoth walnut, grown in the garden of John Cuneo, near Pine Grove. It measured six inches in circumference one way and 5½ inches the other, more than twice the bulk of the average walnut. It was taken from a tree that was nursed in the agricultural station years ago from an imported variety. The tree bears a liberal crop each season, the fruit in quality is equal to that of the choicest variety. The kernel, however, is not so large as the outer shell would indicate, the nut does not fill the shell as completely as in the common walnut. But making due allowance for this, the nut is materially larger than the ordinary kind.

C. Dal Porta was operated upon by Dr. Endicott Wednesday morning for hernia.

We fell into an error last week in saying that Judge Wood would leave Sunday for Inyo county, to conduct a criminal trial in the superior court of that county. He will leave next Sunday.

A force has been put to work by the city authorities to construct the foundations for the rock crusher at the Anita dump. The foundations will be of solid and substantial character. At present the work is confined to grading. A pile of lumber and heavy timbers is on the ground for the construction of the frame work and rock bin.

A. W. Stone, Jackson's enterprising sewing machine agent, visited Sutter Creek and Amador Wednesday, and returned with his pocket book considerably swollen. He was all smiles, and reports business as booming.

St. Patrick's Entertainment

The entertainment in Love's hall last evening for the benefit of the Catholic church, was a notable success. It is customary every year to give an entertainment in honor of the patron saint for the benefit of the local church. The play presented was "Because I Love You." The ladies who had charge of the affair are deserving of great credit, and this year they were unusually energetic and successful. The hall was crowded. Over 300 reserved seats were sold, and nearly all the general admission tickets at 50 cents. We are unable to give the net receipts, as the returns are not all in. All the performers were local amateurs, and sustained their respective notes very creditably. A dance followed the drama, which was kept up until an early hour this morning.

Sawmill for Argonaut.

The Argonaut mine has under course of construction a new sawmill which we learn will be one of the most up-to-date in this section. This mine is doing extremely well, and the mill is a much needed improvement.

Grand Ball at Ione.

The Cascarone and Confetti ball held at Ione last night, under the auspices of Chi-pa parlor No. 40, N. D. G. W. proved a brilliant success. Schultz orchestra of Jackson furnished the music and dancing continued until the early morning hours.

Every manifestation of the approach of the peaceful Easter dawn has already appeared. Windows are decorated with goodies that tickle the palate of the children, pleading post cards with appropriate Easter decorations, which melt the hearts of both boys and girls who are yet in their teens are on display, and the women folks—why there are enough gowns and hats and ribbons and pins to out value the best gold mine in the county. These are but the material signs. The churches however, are arranging to outdo any previous occasion with elaborate and interesting exercises.

The 15 foot redwood watering trough, which the city authorities have decided to place near the old toll house on the Kennedy grade, has been completed at the Garbarini machine shop, and is ready to be placed in position.

Garbarina Bros. are making the frame for a machine saw for D. Mattley, to be operated by horse power. It will be used for cutting stove wood into lengths on the Mattley lands in the vicinity of Jackson. The growing difficulty of securing woodchoppers has induced Mattley to take the labor saving machine plan. It is contended that the machine saw will be able to handle a cord of wood per hour, which is a decided improvement on the man-power method. It will dispose of limbs a foot in diameter, and of any length. Of course the chunks will have to be split, but that is comparatively a small matter.

The Kennedy Company are building a substantial cement wall along the creek below the mill, so as to protect the property in that vicinity from damage by debris or flood. The restraining wall is several hundred feet in length.

L. Vogeli is making arrangements to put in new up-to-date front in the building recently purchased by him on Main street, which has been occupied as a saloon by Opie Harper for many years. L. Lamb has been engaged to do the work. It is the intention to tear down the entire front wall, above as well as below the porch. The new proprietor is determined to have one of the handsomest store fronts in the city.

It is hard to predict what St. Patrick might have said, had he stood beside the shaft at the Kennedy mine, and watched the shamrocks disappear down that gloomy hole. Whether he was an Irishman or an Italian, a Hungarian or a Jew, we are unable to affirm, but a glance was enough to convince anyone that race and tongue alike love to commemorate his career.

A valuable horse belonging to the Moline company was taken dangerously sick Wednesday, and veterinary surgeon Chapman of Jackson was called. The well known horse doctor soon relieved the animal of its suffering, not by killing it, but by curing its affliction, which was of an internal nature.

A. L. Noce, a well known and popular mining man, has been stopping at the National hotel the past few days. He left last night for Sutter Creek. Mr. Noce is supposed to be here on mining business, but refused to discuss the nature of it.

Machinery for the hoist at the Mitchell mine is passing through town almost every day.

Jackson Miner's Union has called a meeting for next Sunday. The object is not made public, but it is rumored that it concerns the payment of assessments.

On Saturday, March 19, and following days, Mrs. Delahide with the assistance of a first-class city trimmer, will have on display a swell selection of dress and tailored hats to which all are invited. No. 10 Main street, next to bank.

Dorothy Sargent came up last night from Lodi high school on a vacation for ten days to her home in Middle Bar.

A wonder of longevity is the so called dragon's blood tree of Tenerife. Resin obtained from this tree has been found in sepulchers, where it had been used for embalming the dead. Trees of this species are now standing which are estimated as being older than the Egyptian pyramids.

While cyclones and tornadoes are different phenomena, the former appear to give rise to the latter. Tornadoes almost always break out, if at all, on the southeasterly outskirts of a cyclone.

Louis Ludekens Jr. Passes Away in Los Angeles.

Louis Ludekens Jr., son of the late Louis and Caroline Ludekens of Aqueduct in this county, died at his home in Los Angeles on the 7th of March, after a lingering illness. Deceased was born in Pine Grove, this county, January 6th 1868. He was the seventh child of a family of fourteen. Six brothers and six sisters survive him. He leaves also a wife and three children—Leo, Fred and Lucille—to mourn the departure of a devoted husband and father. The deceased has been a resident of Los Angeles for about ten years past, engaged in the grocery business most of the time. In October last he submitted to a surgical operation on account of some internal trouble. This failed to relieve him, and from that time until he passed away he was confined to his bed. The funeral was held March 9th, interment in Inglewood cemetery, Los Angeles. His brother Frank of Pine Grove went down to attend the last sad rites.

The father of deceased was a supervisor of this county, representing the third district, or eastern section, for two successive terms.

Saved A Soldier's Life.

Facing death from shot and shell in the civil war was more agreeable to J. A. Stone, of Kemp, Tex., than facing it from what doctors said was consumption. "I contracted a stubborn cold," he writes, "that developed a cough, that stuck to me in spite of all remedies for years. My weight ran down to 130 pounds. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery, which completely cured me. I now weigh 178 pounds. Mail Contract Let.

The contract for carrying the United States mail between Jackson and Amador City has been let to the Amador Central railroad. The bid of this company as first put in was rejected, being deemed too high. After some negotiations the company secured the contract, at an advanced figure on the previous contract.

Passing Counterfeit Money.

An Italian named D. Braghero was arrested in Sacramento on a charge of passing or trying to pass counterfeit paper money. It seems that the accused has been for the past two months in Jackson. He kept bar at Belluzzi's saloon. He is a young man, and dressed well. It is not known that he attempted anything in the way of handling bogus money while here. He roomed at the Central hotel on Main street, and was known by the name above given while here.

Last week he went over to the north part of the county. At Drytown he entered into negotiations for the purchase of the saloon of Gazzera. He produced what purported to be a $20 greenback, and offered it to the proprietor as part of the purchase price, and to bind the bargain Gazzera was not well posted in paper money, and remarked that he would take the bill to McWayne, the local merchant, and get his opinion about it. Thereupon it is said the intending purchaser grabbed the bill out of his hand and put it in his pocket. It is reported that he also passed some paper on another party in New Chicago.

The matter was reported to the sheriff's office, and deputy W. Connors went over and arrested the man. Friday evening he was turned over to constable Tuttle, who started to bring the prisoner to Jackson. Reaching the top of Sutter hill the pair alighted to take refreshments at Boro's saloon. Braghero excused himself and went in the rear of the place, and failed to return. Tuttle in a few minutes became suspicious at the continued delay of his prisoner, and upon investigating found that his man had disappeared over the hill in the rear, and escaped.

It is claimed that the same night he returned to Jackson, and had supper at a boarding house near the brewery. He slept that night at the Central hotel but the following morning left. A warrant was sworn out by sheriff Gregory and officials all over the country were notified, giving a description of the man.

He was arrested by the police in Sacramento on Wednesday evening. Deputy Connors left yesterday morning to bring him to Jackson. Passing bogus money is an offense of which the federal governments takes cognizance. It is said no evidence in the shape of counterfeit money was found upon him.

THE HOLIDAY SEASON.

How the Girl Who Can Cook May Remember Friends.

The girl who can cook has an easy time of it at Christmas, and she is sure of having her gifts appreciated. If she lives in the country, on a farm perhaps, where there are goodly supplies of groceries bought with "trade" at the village shops, but where actual money is scarce, she is specially fortunate, for all the materials of her gifts may come from the pantry shelves.

About the 1st of December the girl who can cook should make a list of her friends whom she wishes to favor. She remembers that there are three cousins who have a special weakness for fruit cake, so when she makes the family fruit cake she also makes three smaller cakes, bakes them carefully and when they are quite cold packs them away in moist brown sugar to keep until Christmas.

Perhaps some of her girl friends have recently married and moved to the city to live. In that case she will help along the new housekeeper with the gift of a little plum pudding just big enough for two. Several of these small puddings steamed in little molds may be made some time in advance of Christmas and put away in tightly closed jars until it is time to send them on, with a sprig of holly stuck in each.

If she has any boy or girl friends at boarding school or college not lucky enough to spend Christmas at home either a box of candy, chocolate fudge, perhaps full of hickory nuts gathered back in the woods, or a two layer chocolate or caramel cake will be a treat for them. To pack a cake of this sort wrap it in oiled paper, then tie this firmly with soft, flat tape. Then it is ready for a heavy pasteboard box, with plenty of crushed tissue paper put in all around it—below, at the sides and above. When this box is securely tied and wrapped in heavy manila paper the cake will travel far without injury.—Delineator.

How to Make Mince Pie.

Mince pie is one of the staple dishes for Thanksgiving day. An excellent rule for the meat, which, of course, must be made at least two weeks in advance, is this: Mince fine two cups of boiled beef and six apples. Add a quart and a half of sweet cider, a cup of currant jelly, the grated rind and juice of two lemons and two oranges, two cups of sugar, one tablespoonful each of salt and cinnamon, one teaspoonful each of cloves and allspice, one-half teaspoonful of nutmeg and pepper, two pounds of seeded raisins, one pound of currants, a quarter of a pound of shredded citron, a pound of chopped suet and a cup of shredded candied orange peel. Flavor with the rich juice of spiced or pickled peaches to taste, or add vinegar boiled down to a sirup with sugar. This rule makes much richer and more spicy pies than any other and will be found delicious.—Harper's Bazar.

How to Make a Blotter.

For my lady's writing desk there are dainty blotters, formed of three or four leaves of blotting paper cut to fit a cover of thin leather on which a border design is burned. This may be either the familiar Greek border or a simple one of dots and dashes and the shape an oblong, the leaves fastened together at one end with a dainty bow of ribbon. To accompany this is a penwiper, cut in the shape of a small book, the inner leaves of chamol skin, the covers of leather, tied together with tiny bows of baby ribbon. Decorate the cover with burned work, a border and a pseudo title in dainty lettering. "Tracks From the Pen of Helen Blank."

How to Make a Nail Buffer.

A nail buffer is a pretty and inexpensive Christmas gift which is easily made. The materials needed are a pasteboard mailing tube, some sheet wadding, a piece of chamol skin and one yard of No. 3 ribbon. Cut the roll about six inches long, cover smoothly with sheet wadding, then with the chamol skin, which should be pinked on one edge and lapped over on the other side. The chamol should be about two inches longer on each end than the roll. Cut the ribbon in two and tie around the chamol at each end.

How to Keep Cloths Hot.

There is more speedy relief from hot wet cloths than the dry heat from a hot water bottle, but it is a tedious task to keep cloths hot. If you wring a soft cloth out of warm water and place it over a hot water bag filled with hot water it will cause a steaming cloth, which gives almost instant relief to severe attacks of earache, toothache or neuralgia. It is quite an improvement over the dry heat.

How to Make Thanksgiving Nut Cake.

Two and a half cups of sugar, one of butter, three and a half of flour, one of sweet milk, five eggs, one pound of seeded raisins, one-half pound of citron, one-half of a lemon peel, one-half of an orange peel, one pint of hickory nut meats, one nutmeg and two teaspoonfuls of baking powder.

How to Make Christmas Tree Cakes.

Make a white loaf cake about two inches high when baked. Cut in two inch squares. When cool dip into a hot chocolate frosting and roll immediately in granulated sugar, which when dry gives a beautiful sparkling effect and tastes good.

How to Wash Matting.

Straw matting always should be washed with warm water and salt. Warm water alone will turn it yellow. The salt has a counteracting effect.

SOME TURKEY DISHES.

How to Utilize Leftovers in Inviting and Tasty Ways.

For ragout of cold roast turkey cut the meat from the bones in as large slices as possible and quite thin. Break up the bones and put them in a stewpan with cold water to cover them. Cook gently for an hour, then strain out the bones, season the meat with salt, pepper, a very little grated nutmeg and a teaspoonful of chopped parsley. Add to this the broth, and when heated stir in a tablespoonful of flour and the yolk of an egg, mixed with half a cup of rich cream. Add two level tablespoonfuls of butter, and stir over the fire until it becomes thick. Then serve. If you have any cold gravy add that, leaving out some of the water. When done there should be very little liquid.

Another plan is to cut up fine such parts as cannot be utilized in other ways. Put into a shallow baking dish or individual baking dishes, with bits of butter rolled in flour, sprinkle in a little salt and pepper and cover with stock or water. Cover with a thick layer of buttered bread crumbs, and pour over them two well beaten eggs or one egg for each individual dish. Bake a nice brown in a quick oven. A few small stewing oysters may be added to this dish to help out in both quantity and quality, using the strained oyster liquid to moisten.

For a curry of cold roast turkey slice as thinly as possible any part of the cold roast turkey and serve with the following sauce and a border of plain boiled rice: For three-quarters of a pound of the sliced meat take one and one-half tablespoonfuls of butter, heat in a frying pan, and add a tablespoonful of minced onion. Fry until a light yellow, then stir in the same amount of flour as butter and a level tablespoonful or less of curry powder, a pinch of salt and a dash of pepper. Simmer for five minutes, then strain over the meat and simmer ten minutes longer and serve. A pint of stock or water is added after the flour has been stirred smoothly into the butter and onion. Have the hot boiled and salted rice ready when the meat is done, and serve very hot.

How to Cream Onions.

For a family of four or five persons take seven medium sized onions. Cut the peeled onions into small thick pieces. Cover them with plenty of cold water and set over the fire in an uncovered vessel. When they boil up throw into a colander, pour over the onions more cold water and shake well. Now they will be clean and white looking. Stew for three-quarters of an hour in just enough of water to keep from burning. Make a white sauce of one cupful of milk, one teaspoonful of flour, one tablespoonful of butter, season with one scant teaspoonful of sugar, one teaspoonful of salt and a quarter teaspoonful of pepper. Pour over the onions about ten minutes before taking from the fire. Onions cooked in this way will not have a strong taste.

How to Decorate Paper.

An effective Christmas present is hand lettered writing paper. This is easily made even by any one who is not especially artistic. Buy plain white or cream writing paper ("kid finish" is better than linen). If you can design your own letters or monogram, so much the better. If not, select some tasteful arrangement of the desired initials and trace or copy it in the upper left hand corner of the paper with pencil. Then go over the letters with gold water color paint, using a fine brush. This does not take long, and the finished result always is appreciated.

How to Make a Beauty Bag.

Beauty bags are made by cutting ordinary cheesecloth into strips two and a half inches wide by five inches long. Fold over and sew up the side. Fill these with oatmeal and sew up the top of the bag, and you have one of the most helpful cleansers for the skin ever devised. The bags are used as washcloths wet in a basin of warm water. A most delightful present is a box of the above beauty bags daintily overcast or buttonholed with wash silk in delicate colors.

How to Care For Waxed Floors.

Never use soap and water on a waxed floor. Waxed floors should be wiped up with a perfectly dry cloth and more wax rubbed into them with a wooden cloth or the polishing brushes that come for that purpose. But do not put on more wax than the floor can absorb, particularly in the corners, which have not been walked on so much. Wash them with turpentine, drying them perfectly dry before applying more wax.

How to Make Peanut Dressing.

Moisten slices of buttered bread with hot water, taking care not to get the bread wet enough to make it soggy. Add a small grated onion, a stalk of chopped celery, salt and pepper to taste and a gill of peanuts rolled fine. Stuff and truss.

How to Cure Laryngeal Catarrh.

Benzoin is usually beneficial in such cases of catarrh of the larynx. Take one teaspoonful of the compound tincture to a pint of boiling water and inhale the vapor. This treatment may be repeated every half hour or hour, as required.

How to Soften Water.

To soften hard water put one ounce of quicklime into four gallons and a half of water. Stir it thoroughly and allow it to settle. Then pour off the clear solution, which will be enough to add to four barrels of hard water.

CHRISTMAS DAINTIES.

How Plum Pudding Had Its Origin. Symbolism of Yule Babies.

There seems little doubt that porridge (and not pudding) was the older and more correct designation of this time honored delicacy. The word pudding was formerly used in the sense of stuffing (or forcement). Porridge, on the other hand, was used in the sense of our present day pudding. When Shakespeare speaks of "porridge after meat" he undoubtedly means "pudding after meat." And in Sheppard's "Epigrams" (published 1651) we read, "No matter for plumb porridge or shred pies." Mr. P. H. Ditchfield says: "The plum pudding is not older than the early years of the eighteenth century and appears to be a 'house of Hanover' or 'act of settlement' dish. The prerogative of Stuart preparation of plums and other ingredients was a porridge or pottage and not a pudding and was made with very strong broth of shin of beef."

Christmas plum puddings have of late years become the toys of fashion. In the good old days, when the yule log crackled in the spacious fire grate of the rich and poor and when snow actually fell at Christmas time, people were well content with plain homely plum puddings topped with dancing spittle, but custom has changed with the times, and the present generation (or at any rate a part of it) requires its Christmas puddings enriched with jewelry or gold coins. This innovation commenced about 1895, and in the year 1899 it was quite a popular institution, and various London firms made plum puddings containing surprises from a bone button to a diamond ring, Diamond rings, gold thimbles, half sovereigns and sovereigns are now, it is stated, frequently placed in plum puddings which are intended as presents. In 1899 the demand for Christmas puddings from all parts of the world was so great that one firm of makers made 84,000 of an average weight of seven pounds each.

Yule babies, Yule doughs or pop (lollypop) ladies. A custom existed in some parts of giving sweetmeats of a special kind to children at Christmas. These tasty morsels in the shape of a doll—eyes, mouth and all—were made of dough and currants. They were flat cakes about the size of a hand, roughly shaped in the figure of a woman with the hands crossed over the breast, and in the crossed arms was a smaller figure representing a child, the features being rudely suggested by means of currants. There can be no doubt that this sweetmeat, which was made and given to children only at Christmas, represented the Blessed Virgin Mary and the Holy Child, a practical and pleasing way of bringing home to the mind of the children the central fact and figure of Christmastide.

How to Prevent Eye Discoloration.

Often in playing a child will run against some object which will hit the eye, and as a bruise on the eye is not only more disfiguring but more painful than one anywhere else on the body, it is well to know what to do for it. Immediately after the eye has been struck with enough force to make it black, apply a cloth wrung out of water as hot as can be stood for twenty minutes, and the blood which has collected and clotted will become thin and pass off to its proper channels. A bruise on any other part of the body may be treated likewise.

The Mississippi.

Before the coming of the whites to America the Mississippi river was known by a different name every few miles of its course. Each tribe that dwelt along its banks gave it a name, and more than thirty of these local designations are preserved in the narratives of the early travelers.

Where Husbands

Must be Bought.

If English girls who go to Austria or Germany to earn their living chance to meet officers, it is well that they should be warned beforehand that marriage with them is out of the question.

No officer in those countries can marry without the emperor's permission and without his wife's possessing a specified "dot."

This rule is so severe that there is no escaping it unless the officer resigns his commission. The lower his grade is the larger must the wife's fortune be. Thus an Austrian lieutenant's wife must have 2480 pounds, and a captain's or major's less, and so forth. The government has thus arranged the matrimonial market value of officers as an indemnification for their small pay. Girls who fancy those articles of luxury and are unable to buy them must therefore resign themselves to the sorrow of hopeless love.

It is remarkable that what would be regarded in England as an arbitrary and unjust law is taken quite philosophically by foreigners, who rather approve than otherwise of this system. It would be intolerable to a Englishman to be forbidden to marry a girl because she happened to be poor. Not only officers, but the majority of Britons, would protest indignantly against such an interdiction. Few Englishmen marry for money. What a delightful contrast this presents to the way marriages are arranged in Europe!

There a girl who has no means may esteem herself lucky if she can secure a suitable husband. A pretty and lovable girl in England has a better chance of getting well married than her richer but less attractive sister. Yet Englishmen are branded by foreigners as being cold-hearted and egotistical. Never was a prejudice more ill-founded.

The Englishman under an impassive exterior is the most romantic of men. Marriage with the girl he loves is to him the fulfillment of his most cherished aspirations. It is certain that at least three-fourths of the marriages which take place in Great Britain and in the British colonies are love matches. No thought of pecuniary advantage enters the average Englishman's mind when he pays his addresses to the girl he loves.

In Europe on the contrary, most marriages are simply and solely questions of money. The Frenchman usually marries either to better himself or in compliance with the wishes of his parents. He half regrets the end of his bachelor days, he rarely marries a girl who has no means. The headlong way in which Englishmen marry simply appals him.—From London Opinion.

Life Insurance Restores Life to Organ

George W. Perkins, one of J. P. Morgan's partners, has just repaired a bit of damage to an Episcopal church, done by Sherman's soldiers more than forty-five years ago during the march from Atlanta to the sea.

One of Sherman's regiments took the Episcopal church as its home. Sherman had many humorists in his army, who did strange things in Milledgeville, but the scamen of his regiment housed in the Episcopal church outdid their rivals when they poured many gallons of molasses down the pipes of the church organ.

That organ still does service in the Episcopal church, and the molasses bath given it in war time has struck to it ever since, notwithstanding years of pious efforts by generations of good Episcopalians to rid it of the Sherman contribution.

The present organist is Mrs. Ruby Bland. Her husband, Marshall Bland, is the local representative of a New York life insurance company.

About a year ago a new rector came to the Episcopal church, the Rev. Mr. Scaret of Boston. He and his daughter are all music lovers, and the poor old molasses treated organ in the Episcopal church upset their nerves. The Scarets delicately inquired as to the cause of the organ's queer disability, and the vestrymen hid the truth of the matter, not wishing to seemingly stigmatize anything Northern, but finally a boy blurted out the truth, saying:—

"The Yankees poured molasses down the pipes when that doggone old Sherman were here."

Little Nylie Bland worked out the solution of the problem, to her own great surprise. She had heard her father speak of the wealth of George W. Perkins, so she sat down and in school-girl fashion wrote to him an artless letter asking him to give something toward the purchase of the new organ. The little girl received this telegram:—

"Buy the organ and send the bill to me. GEORGE W. PERKINS."

To Him Who Waits.
A year ago a manufacturer hired a boy. For months there was nothing noticeable about the boy except that he never took his eyes off the machine he was running. A few weeks ago the manufacturer looked up from his work to see the boy standing beside his desk.
"What do you want?" he asked.
"Want me pay raised."
"What are you getting?"
"Tree dollars a week."
"Well, how much do you think you are worth?"
"Four dollars."
"You think so, do you?"
"Yes, sir, an' I've been t'inkin' so for tree weeks, but I've been so blamed busy I ain't had time to speak to you about it."
The boy got the raise.—Success.

"He jist telephoned me all over," was the child's reply.—Denver Post.

The Liquid Air Industry—Pellagra in Europe—The Airship Destroyers—Fertilizing by Heat—The Lightest Structural Metal—The Latest Transmutation—Crystals Like Living Forms—Not Longer Life but Better—For Better Castings.

Liquid air and its oxygen are now commercial products of some importance. A French engineer, George Claude, reports that plants for producing liquid air now exist in several European countries, and the United States has one at Buffalo. The chief product is oxygen—usually compressed in cylinders. Germany now supplies yearly 282,500 cubic feet of oxygen by the Brin method, 12,000,000 by the electrolytic process, and 77,700,000 by the fractional distillation of liquid air. The cost of liquid oxygen averages about a cent a pound. The necessity of compressing in cylinders and shipping makes the price of oxygen high to consumers, and use at the place of production would effect a great saving. It is possible to utilize liquid oxygen at the same time for three purposes—refrigeration, cooling, and chemical energy. Of the many actual applications of the cylinder oxygen, the principal ones seem to be in metallurgy for welding and cutting metals by the oxy-hydrogen or oxy-acetylene flame, and it is also used in producing fused quartz vessels. For medical purposes, oxygen must be special purity.

A new idea of pellagra, now a terrible scourge in many tropical and subtropical localities, is held by Dr. Sambon. Its distribution and prevalence at a certain part of the year have suggested that it is a germ disease spread by blood-sucking insects, probably sand-flies, and a fund has been raised in England to enable him to make an investigation in some infected region. A time-honored belief has been that damaged maize produces pellagra.

The Krupp 75-centimeter land gun for use against airships has a maximum range of 9,100 meters, and can hit a target 6,300 meters (nearly 4 miles) high. It is mounted on a motor-car. This and a 1.05 centimeter gun to be carried by a war vessel fire shells leaving luminous trails, so that their course may be followed, and the projectiles are designed to explode on penetrating a balloon.

Besides fertilizing the soil with leguminous crops, certain agriculturists in India have been accustomed to plow up the alluvia plains to give exposure to the intense rays of the sun in April and May, in the belief that this adds fertility. The ancient practice has been justified by Drs. Russel and Hutchinson by a scientific explanation. Partial sterilization of the soil by heating destroys the phagocytes that live on the fertilizing bacteria, with other harmful organisms and even the bacteria themselves, but the spores remain, and subsequent moistening causes a remarkable development of the nitrogen-collecting bacteria. The effect on the following crop is said to be quite extraordinary. Throughout the great delta region manures are but little used, but the fertility is kept up by the growth of leguminous crops and the weathering of the soil in the sun's heat. It is suggested that steps to make the weathering practice more general would be one of the greatest possible benefits to Indian agriculture. The old wooden plows now in use are not well adapted to open up heavy soils, and the adoption of light iron plows should give better exposure. In experiments now in progress, A. and G. L. C. Howard, of Pusa, are testing the exact effect of this weathering of various soils on both the yield and quality of wheat.

The new "elektron metal" of a German firm is a series of alloys claimed to be fitted for many uses by their lightness and great strength. They consist chiefly of magnesium, but the added metals vary in kind and proportions, giving a considerable range of properties. The alloys, with a specific gravity of 1.75 to 2.0, are much lighter than aluminum. They possess great tenacity and elasticity, are easily worked, and have a beautiful silvery luster, but in air become coated with a protective film of oxide. It is estimated that by substituting this material for aluminum for the frame of a Zeppelin airship, the weight would be reduced from 12,000 to 7,000 pounds, with no loss in strength.

The grain and a half of polonium isolated by Madame Curie was obtained by treating several tons of pitchblende. While radium lasts a thousand years, the particle of polonium half disappears in 140 days, the products being helium and what seems to be lead.

"Liquid crystals," announced a score of years ago by Lehman, seem to have a real existence, although it is not yet certain that they are really crystals. As first seen, they were spherical drops, with the fluidity of water but with particles in concentric circles about axes of symmetry, and two or more drops united on touching. Reporting late observations, Maurice Leblanc states that the crystals vary greatly in size, the crystals of soft soap—though visible only with a microscope—being much larger than some others. Alcoholic solution of ammonium oleate shows elongated diamond-shaped crystals, and these are displaced and distorted as the liquid is poured, sometimes joining as four-pointed stars. The crystals sometimes behave like living organisms. On meeting an air bubble, a spherical crystal may swallow it, just as an amoeba takes in its food; buds may form and separate at the side of a flattened drop, as some organisms multiply; and two spheres in contact may stretch out into a snake-like form. The singular formations grow by additions to their substance, like living organisms, instead of by taking new particles upon their surfaces, like ordinary crystals.

Without advancing the hope of lengthening the span of life, by the sour-milk diet of Prof. Metchnikoff or any other plan, Dr. Doyen, of Paris, believes senile decay may be retarded, and the body kept in healthful activity throughout the natural period. To preserve vitality he invokes the aid of ferments to increase the white corpuscles in the blood, which are known to work so effectively against parasitic germs. He has named his energizer "mycolysine," and he states that it powerfully stimulates the white corpuscles, thus not only lessening the inactivity of the old age period but giving resistance to various digestive and respiratory maladies. He claims that it acts against colds, bronchitis and even epidemic disease.

"Sical," a new French alloy, contains 50 to 55 per cent of silicon, 22 to 25 of aluminum, 2 to 4 of titanium, 1 of calcium, 0.2 of manganese, and 0.2 to 0.3 of carbon. It is used as a reducing alloy and is claimed to turn white pig-iron into gray pig-iron, and to disperse gases and prevent blowholes and flaws when added to steel.

Typhoid Fever Germs.
Two typhoid epidemics occurring simultaneously in different parts of California are traced by state and local health officers to migrations of the disease germs in surface water, and also to popular erroneous theories in regard to drinking from streams or ditches.
In fly-time the typhoid bacillus most often makes its way from person to person on buzz-machines that have navigated the air since the week before Adam. But since the frost put a ban on flies last fall the disease germs find the streams and the canals that thread California the most likely means of travel.
State germ-trailers find that both epidemics occur where water supplies have been polluted by the sewer discharges of careless or uninformed municipalities. One sorely afflicted community in northern California pipes water from a reservoir fed by a long, open, uncemented ditch. Until recently this ditch mingled waters with a small creek which receives the sewer discharge of a mountain town. The lay of the land further up the ditch indicates that it received the surface wash from two construction camps and a big Chinese rookery during the storms of last month.
So far the health officers are unable to trace any of the epidemics to bed-ridden typhoid fever patients, and it is thought that "carriers" are the source of the outbreaks. No one knows who or where the typhoid carriers of California are. But it is known that about one out of every four persons who have had typhoid continues to discharge millions of typhoid fever germs with the daily wastes of the body for several weeks or months or even years.
When discharged from the human body the typhoid bacillus finds life a hard scramble and dies without multiplying, unless it can make its way to breeding grounds favorable conditions of moisture and shade that it manages to live apart from its host for six months. It can live in water several weeks.

Health officers who are investigating these outbreaks of typhoid fever find that many dangerous fallacies exist in regard to drinking water. This time of year people are found using water that they would not think of tasting in the hot summer months when it has a foul taste and smell from the decaying of the comparatively harmless algae. Unboiled or unfiltered ditch-water is a dangerous beverage at any season, but especially so in the winter when it is apt to be polluted by surface drainage. So far as contracting typhoid fever is concerned, water from a foul barnyard pool may be safer than the seemingly pure stream that has caught the underground seepage from the premises of a carrier or a typhoid patient.

Plenty of Work Ahead
The editor of an exchange went away for a while and left his paper in charge of a minister. During the minister's stay in the sanctum the following letter came from a subscriber: "I know very well I paid you my subscription to your paper the last time I was in town. If I get any more such letters from you as I received last week I will come in and maul h—l out of you." The minister answered: "I have been trying to get that out of the editor for ten years, and if you will come down and maul, it out of him, then, my dear sir, I have twenty members of my church I will get you to operate on."

The Measles Epidemic.

Health officer Dr. Endicott, has received the following communication from the secretary of the state board of health:

To the health officers of California.
Dear Doctor: Many requests have reached the state board of health for a ruling upon the quarantine of measles. The board accordingly sends out the following outline for procedure in dealing with measles cases, with a request that it be followed in all instances, or that you communicate with the board, stating your reasons for any other procedure which you may consider adequate and more satisfactory:

Measles patients should be strictly isolated from the earliest suspicion of the disease to the time when desquamation is entirely completed and there are no remaining evidences of involvement of mucous membranes of the head, throat and respiratory passages. Even in mild cases it is not likely that these conditions can be met inside of fifteen to twenty days; and if cases are not under the constant observation of a careful physician and nurse, the isolation period should be not less than twenty-one days from the date of eruption. If it were possible to obtain the co-operation of every one so that each person exposed could also be isolated for one week prior to possible eruption, measles could undoubtedly be stamped out promptly in any community.

Health officers should instruct teachers, librarians and persons responsible for public entertainments to watch for children with the typical preliminary "cold" symptoms and cough, and each teacher should be encouraged to require children, presenting these symptoms from ten to fourteen days after a measles case has appeared in her room, to remain at home until a physician has passed judgment upon the possibility of measles.

The secretary will be glad to correspond with any health officer relative to this matter of controlling measles.

Very truly yours,
WILLIAM F. SNOW,
Secretary.

Deafness Can not be Cured

by local applications as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever: nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars or any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Gallstone Removed Without the Knife.

There was evidence of great mental as well as extreme physical suffering upon the face of Mrs. G. N. Woods, living at 1117 P and Q streets, when she, in company with her husband, called at the offices of Fer-Don's Medical Experts. It is almost useless to describe this lady's condition to women, as it is the same old story—dragging pains, constipation, torpid liver, backache, and worst of all nervousness.

She described her symptoms and different treatments that other doctors had prescribed, and told of money spent without getting any relief; that she was discouraged and despondent, and that her suffering was almost unbearable. Pains across the back and kidneys; a feeling of complete exhaustion; tired and worn out; at times could hardly drag one foot after the other; pains over the liver. Fer-Don's Experts made a complete examination and found this lady in a terrible condition, but soon discovered the cause of her sickness, and at once began treating her. Fer-Don's expert claimed that Mrs. Woods' liver was enlarged and that it refused to eradicate the bile as Nature intended; also that the gall duct became obstructed, which necessitated immediate attention. A peculiar looking medicine was compounded by the expert, and only three doses given to Mrs. Woods, and to the surprise of Mrs. Woods she was relieved of over one hundred gallstones. No knife, no pain was experienced. It would certainly do every suffering woman good to hear Mrs. Woods tell her story. How quickly she got through Fer-Don's Medical Experts, after other doctors had tried for years to cure her and failed. And she does tell it, too, every chance she gets.

When asked by her friends and neighbors what she thinks of Fer-Don's Experts, she replied: "Fer-Don's Experts are all right, and I feel fine. I can sleep good, and eat good, too. My back is strong now, and the terrible pain I suffered has left my body. Yes the treatment has worked wonders for me, and I am glad I went and saw Fer-Don's European doctors. My husband says he never thought there would be such a change in me, for now I can say I am a well woman, and cannot thank Fer-Don's Medical Experts enough for what they have done for me."

LIBERAL OFFER.

All persons who call at the headquarters of Fer-Don's Medical Experts, 1010 Eighth street, Sacramento, between now and April 15, 1910, will be treated by them for cost of medicine only. No extra charges are made beyond the price of the medicine required in each case to complete the cure, except a fee of $1.00 for examination. This offer expires April 15, and will positively not be extended.

The Panama Exposition.

San Francisco will have to fight for the privilege of celebrating the completion of the Panama canal by a world's fair in 1915. The rival claimants are San Diego and New Orleans. San Diego claims to be the first to move for holding an exposition in honor of the completion of the big ditch. A call has been issued for holding a conference in Santa Barbara to settle the controversy between the two California claimants. San Diego rejects this proposed settlement, as the following telegram will show:

San Diego, Cal. March 15.
To Amador Ledger, Jackson: Your attention is invited to the fact that San Diego was not consulted before the call for the Santa Barbara conference to settle the exposition controversy, and that Santa Barbara is divided regarding the propriety of such action. We refuse to be bound by outcome and protest against political trick devised for our injury. San Diego guarantees exposition that will be credit to state and has asked no outside assistance. D. C. Collier, director general Panama California exposition.

We do not know anything about the merits of the respective claimants as regards priority, but must say that San Francisco seems to be by far the most suitable place for holding a world's fair. Either San Diego will finally give way to its bigger rival, or the chances are that the gulf city will carry off the prize, an outcome which would be regretted by the entire Pacific coast.
